

Self Employed?

You could be missing out on tax breaks.

Working on your own can be exciting. But the rules about keeping records and filing taxes can be confusing when you're self-employed. And it's easy to leave money on the table at tax time. The Center for Economic Progress can help.

Please join us

as we discuss important tax topics in a class especially developed for self-employed workers.

The class is offered on three dates across Chicago. Space is limited, so sign up now!

Truman College

1145 W. Wilson

February 27, 2010, 9:30am - 11:30am

Malcolm X College

1900 W. Van Buren

March 6, 2010, 9:30am - 11:30am

Kennedy-King College

6301 S. Halsted

March 13 2010, 9:30am - 11:30am

In this class you'll learn:

- The importance of good recordkeeping practices.
- How you can make sure you're getting the tax credits and deductions that you're entitled to.
- Tax responsibilities when a business hires employees.
- The free services the Center for Economic Progress offers to self-employed workers.

This training is perfect for:

- Taxi drivers
- Home healthcare workers
- Beauticians
- Home-based childcare providers
- Gardeners/landscapers
- Other self-employed workers running a small business

Space is limited! Please confirm your attendance by calling (312) 630-0268.